

Junior, Mid-Level and Senior Application Developer

Description:

We have multiple levels of Full Stack C# applications Development roles to include SR, mid-level and JR Level.

- Codes, tests, integrates and documents software solutions
- Applies principles and techniques of computer science, engineering, and mathematical analysis to the development of complex solutions
- Participates as a Subject Matter Expert in internal review of software components and systems
- Works on the hardest technical problems facing the company, often these problems are unusually complex and require the utmost creativity and innovation
- Applies and champions the appropriate standards, processes, procedures, and tools throughout the system development life cycle to support the generation of technical engineering products
- Receives no appreciable instruction on day-to-day work; more often responsible to define the scope, schedule and expectations for the work they execute or lead; assignments may be self-initiated
- Provides leadership and/or direction and/or supervision to lower level employees and teams
- Leads large technical tasks and large teams and projects
- Keeps abreast of technology trends and champions new ideas and process improvements

Basic Qualifications:

- Web Development with JavaScript
- Preferred Libraries: JQuery, Bootstrap.JS, Knockout.js
- C# with ASP.Net Web Forms
- Alternatively: Strong development skills in Java and a willingness to learn C#
- Database experience
- Preferred: MongoDB
- HTML
- CSS
- Deployment with a Web Server
- Preferred: IIS
- Proficient at applying technical standards and methodologies to resolve issues in creative ways and help company meet financial and business objectives